NOTICE to the Public—An advertised Sheriff's sale of property to satisfy a demand against Jewett & Melhado, being calculated to injure my credit and business, it is proper to state that I am not in the least embarrassed—do a strictly cash business—neither borrowing or lending. The advertisement referred to arises from a private debt of Dr. A. Melhado, made during his connection with the firm of Jewett & Melhado—not in the books of the firm, for which I am neither liable in honor or justice.

Dr Melhado, at the dissolution of the partnership, was authorised to close the affairs. From notices received from him, I am led to the belief that all outstanding demands have been liquidated.

Saturday, April 27, 1850.

THE FEE BILL.—The "Act to regulate the Fees of Office," passed by the Legislature on the 18th of April, will be published in a neat pamphlet form, and for sale at this office, at ten o'clock this morning.

The First Charter Election.

But two more working days remain before the Democracy of San Francisco will have to determine, by their votes, whether the principles for which we strive, and the continued progress of free institutions over the world, shall be maintained in this growing city of a new empire, or the banner which has so long waved gloriously and triumphantly over our heads shall be trailed in the dust by an ignoble defeat.

Has every man who calls himself a Democrat, reflected upon the consequences to himself and the party to which he claims to belong, that will inevitably result from the refusal to be governed and guided by the usages and ancient landmarks of party? Does he not clearly see that personal ambition and private animosities cannot be indulged in except at the risk of jeopardizing the whole ticket? It is a matter of profound regret to every patriotic bosom that there are within our party so many who seem to regard none but themselves—whose conduct evinces that they are determined either to "rule or ruin."

We cannot nominate every man for office who is worthy and capable; and it is therefore the duty of every good democrat to abide by the nominees who shall have been selected in a fair and democratic manner Because there may be some on the ticket who are not satisfactory to every one, is it therefore a sufficient ground for refusing our support to it, thereby inviting defeat? Our opponents are harmonious and united, and it is a matter of joy to them to foster the seeds of distrust and dissension in the democratic ranks, for it is by our quarrels alone that they have even the faintest hope of success. They know and feel that a large majority can be polled against them in a square hand to hand conflict; and we may expect that our candidates will not escape the tongue of calumny and detraction.

With Col. Geary to lead us to the battle—a man against whose integrity and honesty of purpose not even his worst enemies can say aught; whose errors, whatever they may have been, came never from the heart, which only beat with noble impulses. Surely the battle-fields of Cerro Gordo, Cherubusco, and the plains of Mexico bear ample testimony to the gallantry of Col. Geary, and his patriotism in these trying situations cannot be urged as an objection to his fitness for the Chief Magistracy of this city. With such men as Smiley, Breed, Selover, Mott, Brooks, and Botts in the Council, we have every assurance that the affairs of the city will be managed with ability and prudence.

Our candidate for City Marshal, Mr. Fallon, possesses superior fitness for the duties belonging to that office. It is one where a perfect knowledge of police affairs is requisite to an efficient action in that officer, and in this Mr. Fallon has no superior in California.

For Recorder of the city we are called upon to support a gentleman whose qualifications and estimable qualities have gained for him a wide and enviable popularity among every class of our citizens in both political parties. The course of Mr. Tilford in the Town Council has been always on the side of the people. He owns not a vara of real estate in the city, nor has ever held a grant of Alcalde or Justice of the Peace. He has ever sustained the authority of the superior officers under the Spanish laws, and advocated the right of the Prefect to require full information of the municipal expenditures. Whatever may have been reprehensible or unwise in the action of the Town Council in reference to the purchase of the Graham House, Mr. Tilford has had no part in these measures, but on the contrary his voice has ever been in favor of economy and a just administration of the municipal government.

The other gentlemen composing the Democratic ticket, whose names the limits of this article will not permit us specially to designate, are well known to the community in which they reside, and will faithfully execute the high and responsible trust which the votes of the people may impose upon them. Let them, one and all, receive the undivided support of the Democracy of San Francisco, and let us show that we seek more the interest and welfare of the people and State we have adopted for our future homes, than for the personal advancement of any individual, however eminent he may be.

With a ticket so well worthy the confidence and support of the Democracy of the city,—if that Democracy be true to itself, and stimulated as it should be by a pure and lofty patriotism, the flag under which we have fought and conquered on many a well-contested field, will wave over a triumphant party on Tuesday evening next.

Tragical Occurrence near Santa Cruz.

We have been put in the possession of the facts relating to a tragical occurrence near Santa Cruz, which we lay before our readers, as it may be the means of furthering the ends of the law, which has been most wantonly violated. On the 31st ult., the wife of Mr. J Graham, residing about six miles from Santa Cruz, at the saw mills called Sayant, left his home, taking as he says, between twenty and thirty thousand dollars in coin and gold dust. On the 2d instant, Graham obtained a search-warrant, under which the sheriff proceeded to search the house of Mrs. Mary Bennett, the mother of Mrs. Graham, also residing at Sayant. This was done upon the affidavit of Graham that he believed his wife's sister, Mary Ann Bennett, aided in the robbery, as she was at his house on the same day that the affair occurred. Nothing was found but a small box, which Mrs. Bennet said was sent to her by Mary Ann, with a request to have it decently buried, as it contained a small child. This box, which was in a trunk where Graham and his son Jesse kept their money, was broken open and the money taken while they both were absent at San Jose, attending a horse race. Mary Ann was then arrested on behalf of the people, for aiding and abetting in the robbery, but discharged for want of sufficient proof. At two different times subsequently, the son Jesse endeavored by threats to compel Mrs. B. and her son Jackson to disclose the place of the wife's concealment, menacing their lives should they refuse Upon this, they proceeded to the Alcalde and entered their complaint. Jesse was ordered to give bail in the sum of $2000 Not being able to obtain the sureties, the bond was doubled, and he allowed to depart on his own recognizance, promising good behaviour. He, however, followed Mrs. B., and on their road home overtook them about one mile from the Mission, fired with a double-barre shot gun loaded with buckshot, upon Jackson, but missed him, and then discharged the other barrel at Mrs. B., before her son could offer any defence, having been thrown by his frightened animal. Five shot took effect upon her—two in her hip, the remainder in the legs, though none of them are dangerous. The scoundrel then hurried on to Mrs. B's house, called out her younger son, and shot him down deliberately—the boy died on the instant. Since then, nothing has been heard of him. We annex a description of his person and apparel, so that the officers of justice may have an eye upon him, should he venture among us.

He is about six feet high, stout built, with long hair, a little inclined to curl at the ends, and is quite good looking. He wore a brown sack coat, black felt hat, brown woollen pants, and striped vest.

A reward of three thousand dollars is offered for his apprehension.

The eloping lady has a lover in the case whose name is forgotten.

THE LEGISLATURE.—In another column, to-day, will be found a complete list of the Acts and Joint Resolutions passed by the Legislature during its first session, prepared for us by our attentive reporter at San Jose. The proceedings of the Senate on the last day have failed to reach us.

☞ We have a letter from Hon. J. M Covarrubias, of the Assembly, which we shall endeavor to find room for on Monday.

☞ The Valedictory address of Speaker Bigler will be read with much interest. It is an eloquent production, and reflects a high degree of credit upon the honorable gentleman.

☞ The meeting in relation to the affairs of California, adjourned from Thursday evening to this day, has been postponed till half past four o'clock on Monday next Atlantic and Pacific Railroad.

The people of the Western States are taking hold of this subject in earnest. Missouri has chartered a company to carry the track to the western boundary of the State, with the object of its being from thence continued across the continent under the auspices of the general government. The city of St. Louis has taken up the matter with great zeal, and already enough has been subscribed at that one point to authorize the company to break ground this spring.

Letters from Washington speak of a vast deal of intrigue and manœuvring in regard to the location of the great railroad which is to connect the Atlantic with the Pacific. In the arrangement of the committees of the Senate and House, it is said that majorities have been obtained in favor of the Southern route, that is, the one projected by the Memphis Convention; and great efforts are making to give it this direction. The friends of the Central route—that which will take its line of departure from the west side of the Mississippi—are invoked to come up to the work with energy and prompt action.

It is said that a good part of the topographical corps are already committed in favor of the Gila route; and for that reason the western States are moving in advance of national legislation, to put beyond cavil the progress of the Central road. The proper adjustment of this question is of vast importance to San Francisco; and we should like to see a response from this quarter to their fellow-citizens of Upper Mississippi, encouraging them in their truly national enterprise.

The great immigration to this State upon all the routes last season has concentrated an amount of information in California, upon the characteristics of all the routes ever contemplated, that never has existed upon the subject hitherto.

The route proposed by the Memphis Convention cannot be taken into favorable consideration by any one having in view the speedy completion of this great work. The distance is much greater than by the Central route, passes through a more broken and abrupt country, and withal, a long port on of the track must pass through Mexican territory; moreover, when it would first strike the Pacific, it must be at a point distant from any harbor of such magnitude as would be a safe entrepot of such a commerce as must centre at the terminus of this great undertaking.

By the Central route from the Missouri river through the South Pass the track will follow up the valley of the Platte to Sweetwater without requiring a single culvert the whole distance, on a smooth, inclined plane, with about an ascent of five feet per mile. From the Sweetwater to the Great Basin, or Deseret, the road is equally as practicable as on many of the routes completed in the New England States. When the road might be finished to the waters of Humboldt river, there would be reached another plain equally as feasible as the Platte, running westward five hundred miles, to the very base of the Sierra Nevada: and coming through this by Warner's Pass, the bay of San Francisco would be reached by a direct line from the Atlantic. On this route many valuable materials are to be found suitable for railroad construction. The best of cedar grows on the Upper Platte, enough to finish the road to the mountains; and at several points beyond Laramie coal is found.

There seems to be some jealousy in the Western States as to where the main track of the Central road shall join those already completed towards the frontier. We see railroads projecting from Chicago to Cairo, from Springfield to Quincy, from Springfield to Terre Haute, from Peoria to Oquawka, from Galena to Chicago, from Alton to Springfield, Illinois from St. Joseph to Hannibal, in Missouri, and from Council Bluff to some point on the Upper Mississippi—all of them, but the first mentioned, commended to the public as probable links in the great chain which is to connect the Atlantic and the Pacific.

We hope that no division of sentiment will defeat this glorious enterprise: but that it may be completed as a crowning effort of Anglo American energy.

FAREWELL CONCERT OF HENRI HERZ.—This distinguished artist will give his last concert in San Francisco this evening, at the National Theatre. The programme is the richest that has ever been presented to the public in this country, and must draw a crowded house. We hope that all who desire to hear the enchanting music of Mr. Herz, will not fail to embrace the present and last opportunity to do so. Let the parting be a bumper.

SUTTER HOTEL AND RESTAURANT.—The popular proprietors of this capital establishment have very much enlarged their borders, and last evening opened a beautiful and well-furnished room fronting on Kearny street, where they will, no doubt, be pleased to see the whole body of their constituents in convenient platoons. We were present at a brilliant firing of—corks last night, which seemed to give full satisfaction. The killed and wounded are likely to recover. If good wines, liquors, and eating are of any importance in California, Messrs. Ambrose & Kendall will not find their "banquet halls deserted."

☞ We are requested to state that the steamer Senator will leave for Sacramento City from her usual berth, to-morrow (Sunday) at 4 P.M. Freight will be received as usual all the day on board bark Janet.

Speaker Bigler's Valedictory Address.

Gentlemen of the Assembly:

It is perhaps unnecessary for me to assure you that I feel truly grateful for the expression of your approval of my conduct as your presiding officer, but so signally have you, on many occasions, manifested your partiality and confidence, that I feel called upon to give you the most solemn assurance of a proper appreciation of your unvarying kindness.

Before pronouncing the final words dissolving this Assembly, and severing, perhaps forever, the relations that have subsisted between us for the last four months, I feel myself called upon, in accordance with universal custom under similar circumstances, to address to you a few words at parting. We met, gentlemen, under the most peculiar circumstances that ever yet attended the birth of a new State. Drawn from their homes, over land and sea, braving the summer's heat and winter's cold, and all the perils and hardships of a tedious journey in the pursuit of a legitimate enterprise, the people of this country have made themselves a new home in this land of California, hitherto deemed almost unapproachable.

As the chosen representatives of this people we met together in December last, to lay the foundation of a government, and to frame a system of laws that, I trust, are destined to last for ages.

It was a mission worthy of the loftiest ambition: a work calculated to call into exercise the strongest energies and the best impulses of our nature.

The exercise of our natural faculties under any circumstances influence either for good or evil, in some measure, the destinies of present or future generations. How much more so with us, chosen as we were by the people, to stamp upon this young State the impress of order and of law. Whether we have succeeded in satisfactorily discharging the duties imposed upon us by the favor of our constituents, time alone can determine. The task, indeed, was one of no ordinary difficulty. It was necessary to frame a system of laws not unsuited to the character of the institutions under which we have heretofore lived, and yet such as would not outrage too much the prejudices and partialities of the natives of the soil. That this delicate task has been effectively and wholly accomplished, it would be too much to say. Indeed, complete success would have been impossible. It is for future legislatures to perfect what we have begun. But, at least, let us hope that our labors, however incomplete, will be accepted by our constituents as having been performed in good faith, and with an earnest zeal to do our duty.

When we met together at the commencement of the session, we had a reasonable hope that before the termination of our labors we should be admitted into the Union on an equal footing with our sister States, and we lost no time in sending our representatives to the National Legislature; but it is a matter of regret that a most embarrassing question of domestic policy has, since December last, engaged the attention of Congress, and has thus far prevented our admission into the Union. It cannot, I think, be doubted, however, that the good sense and patriotism of that body will at length prevail, and that we shall soon be united in the bonds of law, as we are already in those of affection and brotherly regard with the elder States.

Before we separate, permit me again to express to you in feeble terms, how deeply I feel the indulgence and kindness which you have uniformly shown me. Twice you have, by an almost unanimous vote, placed me under obligations which I never can forget. I feel it the more sensibly, as at our first meeting I was but partially known to most of you. In so large a body, where there are necessarily so many conflicting interests, it was natural to expect that there should be a conflict of opinions on almost every subject.

It is peculiarly gratifying, however, to reflect that nothing has occurred of any moment, to disturb the harmony of our proceedings, or to interrupt for any length of time, that kindly intercourse which has existed among the members of this body. For myself, I part with you with the most grateful sense of the kindness which you have ever shown me, and with the most kindly feelings towards every member of this body, and I look forward with unfeigned pleasure to the time when chance may again throw us together.

I now, Gentlemen of the Assembly, in discharge of the last duty that devolves upon me as your presiding officer, pronounce the Assembly adjourned sine die.

DIED.

COMMERCIAL NEWS.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

Friday Evening, April 26.

There has been some considerable activity in the Flour market. Cargo of a vessel, all half sacks, was closed at $5 25. Lots of 50 to 200, of 200 lb. sacks, have been closed to day at $10 25a10 50. Fresh Oregon, in barrels, is selling at $10; some holders demanding $11. Sales of Richmond, in bbls. were made to-day at $5 75, but considered below market. Part of a cargo, in half bbls., Hacksall brand, is now daily expected.

Candles, (sperm), are in more abundant supply, and the prices have a declining tendency. Sales have been made at 75c., and a further lot is offered at that price. The stock of Coffee is light compared with previous supply; prices are advancing, and, if no other cargo arrives, will continue to do so. Three cargoes of Lumber have arrived, and, added to the immense stock on hand, the market is entirely inactive. Forced sales usually bring about home cost. Good boiled Linseed Oil, and pure Lead are scarce, and would find a good market.

☞ San Francisco, April 29, 1850.

Messrs. Editors: Gentlemen—We are sorry to observe in your journal of this morning, a statement relative to the finances of the city, which reflects unfavorably upon us as public officers. We the more regret this communication for the reason that our duties confine us to a narrow sphere, and do not permit our partaking, or meddling with the proceedings of the Ayuntamiento, or common council.

The discrepancy assumed to have existed between our several accounts, as published in the Alcalde's pamphlet, is accounted for by the absence of the first Treasurer's fiscal statement at the time he left office, and was probably deemed unnecessary, as no account is kept with the Treasurer individually, but with the Treasury.

Presuming that the Alcalde will also reply to the statement first alluded to above, we will, for the satisfaction of your correspondent, as well as the public generally, only further beg reference to the accompanying recapitulation of the Comptroller's first account, while we are, very respectfully, your obedient servants,

Whereas, it being all important to the interests of the city of San Francisco, at its first municipal organization, under the charter recently adopted by the Legislature, that peace, harmony and good order should prevail among all its inhabitants, and that all interests should be guarded alike, without reference to geographical locality, or political complexion: And, whereas, the present aspect at home, in our American Congress, with reference to our admission as a State, with our present constitution, is, at least, doubtful, because political parties, as they are now organised, look more to the interest of party aggrandisement and party questions than the good and welfare of the citizens of California: And, whereas, self-preservation being the first law of nature, in delegating power, for our own protection, which is as yet denied us from those who are bound to protect us. ☞ For Street Commissioner—Charles J. Richards is presented by his friends as a candidate for the office of street commissioner, and they respectfully solicit the suffrages of his fellow citizens. The confidence of his friends in his ability to fill the above office efficiently, is founded on a thorough knowledge of the man—he having been for many years engaged in designing and directing the construction of public works, among which are the Erie canal and Croton water works, of N. York also, surveying for the Cumberland and numerous other railroads and highways. In short, he is emphatically a practical man, well calculated to perform the duties of the office. cxxi cs*

MR. WM. CORNELL JEWETT: Sir—Your notice to the public in regard to the advertised sheriff's sale, to satisfy a demand against the late firm of Jewett & Melhado, compels me to address you, not to prove that I am disembarrassed, or that your notice could reflect in any way, but to remind you, if the debts of Jewett & Melhado have been liquidated, they have been so with my means, and the several notices I have served you with on this point, have not met with the desired request—"That you should pay me your proportion of my advance." You must be aware, if you are not embarrassed, or your name brought before the public for acts in themselves dishonorable, it was owing to my intervention, by a loan of $2500 to liquidate demands you dreaded should meet the light of day, consideration for your name, coupled as it was with mine, induced me to make the loan, and that free of interest. I have since called upon you to settle that by your notes, payable in 30 and 60 days, and that I would arrange the debt due and discharge the levy, but this you have refused to do. I have no wish to enter into newspaper controversy, but if you desire to have our acts published as connected with the late firm of Jewett & Melhado, I shall be ready to meet you.

I am, sir,
Your ob'dt serv't,
